Comprehensive Marketing Consulting Services

We know that it is not easy, different technologies often drive each project. Try using one firm to standardize your public image: mocking up a 20 foot event banner, developing your database front end, and unifying your internet customer service correspondence.

Well... We accept! a better way is starting a relationship that can fill your immediate needs and keep consistency in future materials using our mature relationships with experts.

WHO WE ARE

Daeton is a consultant group integrating print, internet, and press communications into one consistent message.

Daeton was founded in 1997. We call our process 'a better way'. This methodology defines our service: developed relationships with mature businesses to make one message consistent, scaleable, and seamless across multiple channels.

We design, develop and maintain information products/services to meet the communications needs of our clients.

High-end print production -- including posters, CD stamping and packaging labels, etc? Retail packaging and post-production; including laminating, corrugated cardboard displays, and physical packaging? Traditional and digital image services? Video production and editing services? They are all right here at your fingertips.

Java applets, web hosting, database applications, and a full web, database and application development team? That's right, you guessed it.

And more... VHS promotional tapes? Conference vinyl banners? Demonstration self-running CD?

As your needs expand, your Daeton account manager already has mature relationships with industry leading vendors to ensure seamless integration and consistent quality across all of your products.

These relationships drive the value added by Daeton to its clients:
